

Do you have OCD? Interested in Virtual Reality? We need your help!

We are interested in people diagnosed with OCD who have contamination concerns. This study aims to improve the availability of treatment for people diagnosed with Obsessive-Compulsive Disorder by using Virtual Reality.

You will receive up to $60 in gift cards to compensate for your time, and engage in some clinician-guided therapy.

Your participation will involve:

One session conducted in private rooms at The Melbourne Clinic, during which you may be asked to

- Complete several commonly used questionnaires
- Engage in some clinician-guided Exposure and Response Prevention therapy
- Use Virtual Reality technology
